James settled in Charlestown in 1636, and removed to Woburn, where he was a proprietor in 1642. He brought a suit in the Ipswich court in 1642. He died November 29, 1642. His widow Judith married second, January 18, 1643, William Simonds of Woburn. Rebecca, daughter of James and Judith Howard, was born December 4, 1641; died December 4, 1642. They may have had other children. John Hayward (or Howard) came on the Planter, sailing March 22, 1634, and probably at Duxbury, Massachusetts, as mentioned above. George Hayward, another immigrant, settled at Concord, Massachusetts. John Hayward of Concord married, August 17, 1656, Rebecca Atkinson. Children of John and Rebecca Hayward, born at Concord: 1. Rebecca, born and died 1657; 2. John, born April 5, 1661; mentioned below; 3. Persis, born April 24, 1664; 4. Benoni, born and died in 1665. He married second, Sarah Symonds, born July 28, 1644, daughter of William Symonds and Judith (Haywood) Symonds, November 30, 1665, his first wife dying August 5, 1665. The Symonds family resided at Woburn and Concord. John was the son of the immigrant John, and nephew of James. No record appears as to what became of John (1). This John who married Sarah Symonds could not have been a son of James (1), for in that case Sarah would have been a half-sister. John and Sarah Hayward had one child, Sarah, born August 30, 1666. Sarah Hayward, perhaps widow of John, married at Woburn, September 8, 1680, Samuel Richardson. Persis married, January 2, 1683, Jacob Kendall, at Woburn. John Hayward, brother of the foregoing also married at Woburn, January 7, 1687, Sarah Blodgett, of Wobu...
