

In the Fullness of Time

In the Fullness of Time chronicles the faith journey of author Patricia Fortner Redmond, a Southern African-American woman, from blissful childhood innocence through adulthood. It highlights her heart-wrenching twenty-five year walk through the valley of despair as she navigates the treacherous obstacle course of balancing the rigors of everyday life, while caring for a very hyperactive special needs daughter with multiple developmental disabilities. This story reveals Gods abiding presence and divine providence extended to an ordinary person who endures during extraordinary times. It emphasizes the one day at a time approach to faith that is available to all, versus seeking an instantaneous miracle that will only be experienced by a few. It shows how she grows spiritually over time under very adverse circumstances. It presents the side of faith that most people face daily. By taking the fear and anxiety out of the passage of time, the reader is encouraged to wait expectantly for a victorious outcome. This book vividly reinforces the need to have confidence in the faithfulness of God and to stand on the integrity of His word. Pat resides in Birmingham, Alabama with her husband, Steven and daughters, Jamilah and Rashida.
